As the year rapidly flew by, our time together as a class quickly drew to a close. During the past thirteen years, we had grown closer to one another, while learning more about our own selves. We had anxiously awaited the fabled year 1986 to arrive, and, along with it, prom, graduation, and ultimately college. But when it finally did arrive, the year brought with it many unexpected surprises.

Little did anyone think, for example, that the football team that was 1-8 last year would win first place in the MBL and go on to win the district championship and face Colgan in the state tournament. Similarly, no one thought that the volleyball girls, who had started the year with a 1-7 record and had previously lost to Oswego twice, would overturn that top-seeded team at substate to enter state competition at McPherson for the first time in four years.

Our class even surprised itself along with everybody else when we continuously won the spirit stick we had been trying to win for the past four years. In addition, many of the boys came out of their shells their senior year — and tried to catch up on all the trouble they had missed the last four — and cram it into one year.

Although the year quickly sped by, some incidents will be forever etched in our memory: All the times that we set out on the front steps during lunch, while Jeff O'Brien pulled his car up on the grass so we could get the "full stereo effect;" or Kelly "Rambo" Grosdidier and Kenny McElroy's football game during Mr. Matson's class; or the time when David, Bill and Gary skipped to Mac's for lunch — and the detention afterwards. Those are but a few of the highlights of a year that will remain forever vivid in our minds.

Some people may remember the year 1986 as the year that Halley's Comet returned, but to us it was the close of one chapter of our lives — and just the beginning of another.
